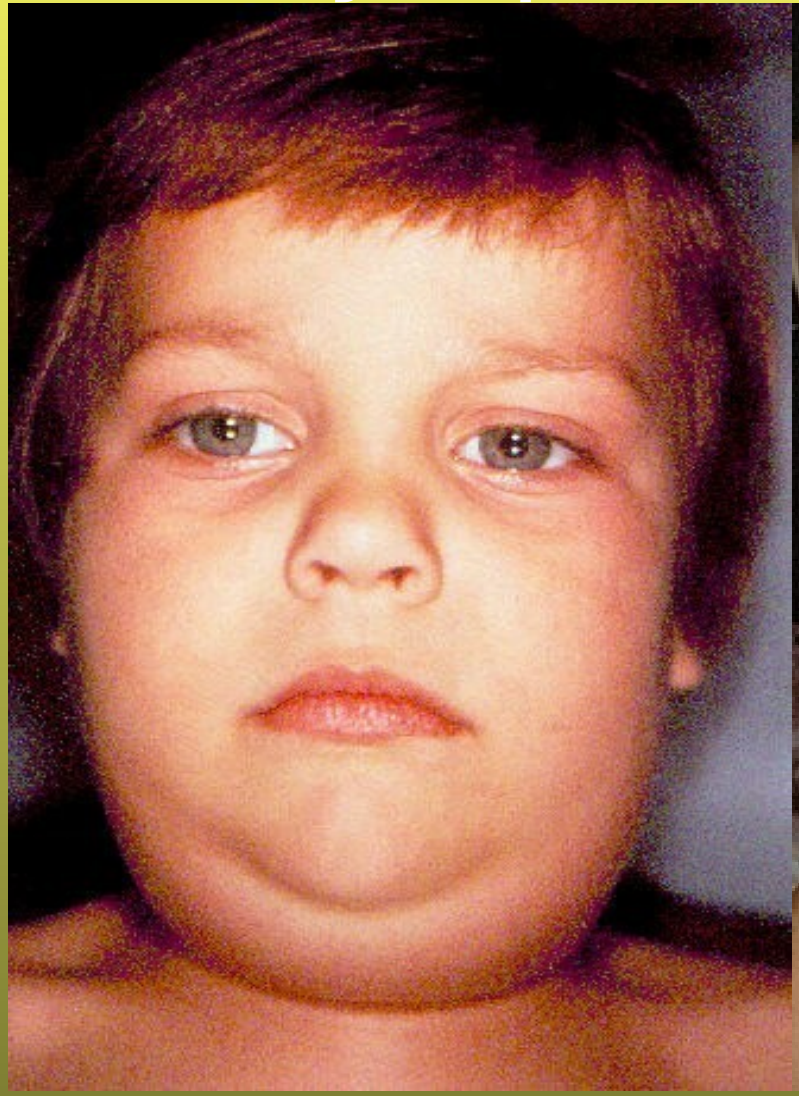
Mumps

- What is mumps?
  - An acute viral infection characterized by nonspecific symptoms, including myalgia, anorexia, malaise, headache, and fever, followed by the acute onset of tender swelling in the salivary glands.
  - Approximately 20% of infections are asymptomatic, and nearly 50% are associated with nonspecific or primarily respiratory symptoms.

Symptoms of Mumps



Mumps Information

- Complications
  - Include orchitis, oophoritis, or mastitis (inflammation of the testicles, ovaries, or breasts respectively), sterility (males), meningitis, spontaneous abortion, and deafness.
- Transmission occurs by direct contact with respiratory droplets or saliva (coughing and sneezing).
  - Symptoms may appear 12-25 days after infection
  - An infected person is able to spread the disease 6-7 days before any symptoms are apparent and until 9 days after the onset.

Mumps Epidemic?

- According to one Iowa state health official yes.
- 1000 cases reported in Iowa over the past few months; continually reporting about 50 new cases a day.
- Good news for Illinois residents - only 80 cases have been reported so far.

Precautionary Advice

- “Normal” flu precautions apply
  - Wash hands with soap and warm water for at least 15 seconds
  - Proper use and disposal of tissues
  - Not sharing drinks, cups or utensils
  - Adequate MMR (measles, mumps, rubella) vaccination
    - People born before 1957 do not need to worry about a vaccination.
